

Little Kids, Big World

Join us Monday mornings at 10:30 for this free interactive learning series for toddlers and preschoolers. All children must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. These fun, hands-on, 30-minute programs will introduce your child to North Dakota's fascinating history—from dinosaurs through today's ongoing story. Meet at the east entrance information desk at the ND Heritage Center & State Museum.

January 25

Place the Waste

Learn the difference between trash and recyclables. See how long it takes to fill the landfill in our Place the Waste game.

February 1

Life in a Tipi

Imagine living inside a tipi just like American Indians of the Great Plains. We'll learn how to set up a tipi and explore it inside and out.

February 8

Little Archaeologists

What is an archaeologist? Learn about the tools archaeologists use through hands-on experience.

February 15

Fantastic Fossils

Learn about different fossils. Make your own cast to take home.

February 22

Homesteader House

Imagine your family living in our 1915 homesteader cabin. Get an idea of what life may have been like at work and at play for a homesteading family.

February 29

Fur Trade Fun

Learn about the fur trade. Try your hand at trading furs for popular items of the time such as corn, a kettle, or even a horse!

March 7

Little Paleontologist

What is a paleontologist? Learn about the paleontology tools, and try them yourself.

March 14

Sacred Bison

Bison provided food, clothing, shelter and more for American Indian people. Look at items made from bison, including a boat, a hoe, and a tipi. Listen to an American Indian story about bison.

March 21

Working Wind

Wind can do the work we need to make electricity. Learn about wind power. Make a pinwheel to take to remind you of how helpful wind can be.
